

Nona Works is crafted to unite a diverse community, spanning from high-school students to seasoned industry professionals, all driven by a passion for innovation and problem-solving in bio-design software development. Participants will engage with cutting-edge researchers, biotechnology industry experts, and leading researchers. The event focuses on "challenge problems" presented by sponsors. Throughout this hackathon-style gathering, teams of programmers will collaborate on these challenges, aiming to deliver open-source solutions. Expert office hours will offer guidance, while workshops will equip participants with essential skills for developing, deploying, and distributing bio-design software. Volunteers will support participants throughout project development. The event will culminate in Demo Day, where teams will present their innovative projects to an eager audience. For more information see <https://www.nonasoftware.com/nonaworks>

Nona Works Sponsorship Item	Ally $1,500	Leader $3,000	Hero $5,000
Access to Nona Works program participants (discussions, mentoring, etc.)
Verbal acknowledgement during Nona Works opening and closing events
Include your brochures, coupons, T-shirts, etc. in attendee bags
Exclusive listing of logo on Nona website
Priority listing of logo on promotional materials: brochures, agenda, program
Present a poster of up to 40"x30"
Have mentors available during Nona Works "office hours"
Host a discussion session or pre-workshop meeting
Present a challenge problem to Nona Works participants
Have a company representative as part of the final project judging process
Event registrations for Nona Works	1	1	2

*If your organization has additional sponsorship needs, please don't hesitate to contact Nona leadership to discuss.